Apologies: Janet Sandford, Miranda Guillon, Hugh Smith, Peter Sidney and Daryl Taylor.

Previous minutes read and moved by Jon Doughty, seconded by Meg Bowman.

Business Arising:

Shed meeting with Shearer and Algal went ahead. Job was delayed due to miscommunication between Jim the excavator, and Jim the concreter waiting for each to contact the other.

Shed is manufactured and ready for installation.

The footing needed to be redesigned (and reformed) at the extra cost of about $3,000. An executive meeting OK'd this increase in privy. Redesign entails thickened concrete to adjust for slope. Hopefully shed will be done within a month.

Apex to make a sizable "donation" for our old shed, instead of purchasing outright.

Power and water will be looked at later.

Notification from Hal Leonard that Les Miserables will be restricted for 2011 & 2012.

NIDA scholarship – Narelle Bintley confirmed Chris Maxfield to lead workshop on 31 October at Youth Centre for students Yr 9 to 12. Plan is to pick four or five to interview for one scholarship place.

The second half of the workshop will be for SATS members.

Fair Trading Meeting:

Alex Urpeth and Mark Smith attended a meeting at Muswellbrook with the Department of Fair Trading re; Model Constitution pro forma adapted into the clubs constitution, which is legally more binding. Alex and Mark will have a subcommittee meeting to integrate the two together. These will include bylaws so changes can be made at normal meetings without having to wait for an AGM.

Wedding Singer DVD launch was fun and well attended.

SATS Live @ the Pavilion had to put off for 12 months due to work on the roof commencing November.

Takahata Choir concert 11.11.10 at 6pm at All Saints. Supper will be afterwards at the Youth Centre @ $25/head.

General Business:

Katherine Gilmore – performing arts festival for K to 12 at the Civic Centre in third term of 2011. She would like SATS to help with sound and lighting. Will need to have a meeting to discuss as it is same time as “Power of Music”.

Ticket/floor planning could be more streamlined. Jenny Blake has an idea to achieve this. Will need to have a meeting before tickets go on sale for next show.

Kaylene Smith still has clothes from the Wedding Singer and will now decide what to do with them as they haven’t been picked up.

Peter Knight (Town Band) has some musical arrangement with vocals and is hoping that SATS could pay half the cost of the purchase of this. Janet Sandford to discuss with Peter.

Christmas Party on Sunday 5th December. Rachel Levick is organising a car rally.

“Guys and Dolls’ was proposed and subsequently chosen for next year’s musical.
